

University of Limerick (UL) Volunteer Programme – 2009

In partnership with the Department of Clinical Psychology at University of Limerick, two specialists (Dr. Barry Coughlan and Ms. Emma Flynn) travelled to Romania in July 2009 for one week to provide training in Giurgiu for local disability services staff.

As part of the training, Dr Coughlan and Ms Flynn gave a very successful and well-attended talk on 'Moving from Residential to Community Living: The Castletroy Project', showing how Limerick disability services were transformed through de-institutionalisation.

This was a successful project and we hope to continue our partnership with UL in the future.
